

Retail Jeweller

APRIL 2021 • Retail-jeweller.com

The leading jewellery and watch title

PLUS
WOLF looks to the future

THE BUDGET

What it means for the jewellery sector

A GOOD
BETT

The Betts Group talks SMO gold

PRODUCT TRENDS

THE APRIL EDIT

Our pick of the best new product launches from jewellery and watch brands, manufacturers and suppliers

LaMarquise Diamonds

This Dubai-based manufacturer and wholesaler is launching new fine diamond and gem-set jewellery ranges in the UK market, offering white label diamond jewellery to luxury retailers across the UK and Ireland. For spring, it is introducing its Orchid collection and Amore bridal rings, both using certified natural diamonds of VS clarity. RFP Amore ring, £2,800/lamarquisediamonds.com

Alexia Connellan

These Art Deco-style Gatsby earrings, created by fine jeweller Alexia Connellan, draw inspiration from the French Building on New York's Fifth Avenue, built in 1927, while green tourmaline evokes the light at the end of Daisy's dock in F. Scott Fitzgerald's classic novel, The Great Gatsby. The earrings can be worn in five different ways. RFP £42,000 a pair/alexiaconnellan.com

Giovanni Raspini

Italian jewellery brand Giovanni Raspini is once again embracing the natural world with five new capsule collections – Skin, String, Sicily, Petra and Crocodile. For the Skin collection, Raspini embodies the textures and movements of the animal world in jewellery, from the scales of a sea creature to snakeskin and feathers. RFP Skin necklace, £580, and earrings, £170/giovanniraspini.com

Accutron

Accutron has reintroduced its 521 model, part of its Legacy collection. Drawing inspiration from the 1960s' original, which was famously worn by Elvis Presley, it has the same distinctive asymmetrical case design, with the crown placement near three o'clock. The new 521 watch is limited to 600 pieces and comes with a gold-tone stainless steel case and mesh-style bracelet. RFP £1,290/accutronwatch.com

Mark Milton Jewellery

Jewellery supplier Mark Milton's latest SS21 collection promotes the trend for necklace layering. Styles include an understated yellow gold pendant necklace, with a round faceted garnet held by a six-claw setting, a fict trio gold bead circle necklace in yellow, rose and white gold, and a single gold bead strung onto a fine yellow gold trace chain. RFP Necklaces, £100–£195/www.mark-milton.com

Nada Ghazal Fine Jewelry

Memories, her family and her home country of Lebanon inspire Middle Eastern fine jewellery designer Nada Ghazal. Each textured piece of jewellery is handcrafted in 18ct gold and adorned with diamonds and gemstones. New pieces include this Glamour ring, from the Fuse collection, made using 2.30ct champagne diamonds.

RRP £5,995/nadaghazal.com

Harriet Morris Jewellery

Based in the Goldsmiths' Centre in London, designer Harriet Morris completed business incubator scheme Setting Out last year, during which she developed her unisex Felix collection, with its Glitch signet rings, reminiscent of a computer malfunction, and Lion rings in vivid pink and 9ct yellow gold.

RRP Rings: £450-£1,700/
harrietmorrisonjewellery.com

Chalk Jewellery

Chalk is a London-based design studio specialising in statement jewellery. Former architect Malaka Carr began by creating earrings and has recently introduced more statement necklaces to the collection. Inspired by the colourfully decorated homes of the Ndebele tribe in Africa, this abstract, ornate Philani pendant is handmade from walnut, acrylic and Formica.

RRP £80/thechalkhouse.com

Nordgreen

Danish brand Nordgreen has released a new women's watch design, the Unika. With every watch purchased, customers can opt to donate to one of three charity projects, supporting clean drinking water, education for children or the protection of rainforests. Made from stainless steel, this 28mm rose gold brushed metal watch is water resistant to 3atm.

RRP £199/nordgreen.co.uk

Kloto

Born and raised in Istanbul, designer Genem Gonçoğlu combines her family's 40-year heritage of jewellery-making with her passion for industrial design. Each piece of Kloto jewellery, with its ergonomic aesthetic, is made using recycled, responsibly sourced sterling silver and gold. Key examples include this Union neck collar.

£1,760/kloto.com