Just in Beirut

Le Grenier (below)

The Printania Palace Hotel in Broummana has revamped and restyled its classic Ballester restaurant. Renamed Le Grenier and open just in time for the fall and winter seasons, the new restaurant features specialty dishes like pumpkin soup, scallops served on a bed of warm tabbouleh and a vegetable-based risotto topped with jumbo shrimp.

Printania Palace Hotel, Broummana, tel. 04.862.000.

Antoine Vincent (right)

The newest works by 54-year-old French painter Antoine Vincent, including portraits, landscapes and more, are highlighted at this solo exhibit.

On view from October 5-29 at Galerie Alice Mogabgab, Karam Bldg., Ashrafieh St., Sassine, tel. 03.210.242.

Nada G. (left)

Lebanon's darling jewelry designer Nada G. opened a new boutique in the Beirut Souks last September. Her latest collection, the New Birth of Nada G., was unveiled at the opening and features stylish handcrafted pieces made of gold, precious and semi-precious stones.

Lina's (below)

Downtown Beirut's most popular restaurant and café recently relocated to a larger space on Allenby Street, complete with a new lounge area and terrace. Lina's trademark sandwiches, salads and desserts are all on offer.

Allenby St., Downtown Beirut, tel. 01.970.153.

Bobbi Brown (below)

Bobbi Brown's new Black Velvet collection blends plum, cherry and maple tones with black to create strong, sexy shades. The line includes a Black Velvet Sparkle Eye Shadow and three new kohl eyeliners.

Available at Aishti, Downtown Beirut, tel. 01.991.111.

The world of Aishti shines through in a new weekly series called A Style, scheduled to premiere in October on MTV. Presenter Maya Kaddoura gives viewers an in-depth look at the company and its activities - from fashion shows to magazines - and of course the luxury brands that are sold at Aishti stores.
