It was fabulous hearing that pieces by one of our favorite jewelry designers, Nada Ghazal, were chosen as the must-haves among hundreds of British labels at London Jewelry Week! The story of how Nada G jewelry came to life is evidence that the heart wants what it wants... and it's never too late to pursue your dreams. Nada was brought up between Lebanon and the UK, earning her degree in Advertising Art, and pursuing a very successful career as an Art Director at Impact BBDO and then Leo Burnett in Dubai. Despite her booming professional life, Nada left her work on her 30th birthday and set off to fulfilling a childhood dream she had left behind: becoming an independent designer. Her fantasy came to reality when Nada rented an old apartment in Gemmayzeh and turned it into her very own jewelry workshop. The first complete Nada G line was launched in 2003. After participating in Phoenicia hotel's "Beirut Haute Joaillerie Fair" and an exhibition at the Four Seasons Hotel in Saudi Arabia, the label began receiving immense recognition. A short year later, Nada opened her first flagship boutique in Lebanon. Today, two Nada G stores exist – one in Gemmayzeh and another which recently opened at Beirut Souks – along with a full-fledge in-house workshop. We like to categorize Nada Ghazal's creations as distinctive fine jewelry with character and a little bit of edge. Nada G jewelry is perfect for any woman who appreciates uniqueness and contemporary fine jewelry. In the designer's words, life is a celebration! She reflects: "I am touched by everything I see and everyone I meet. Creating for me is a reflection of my life, put on a piece of paper and eventually transformed into distinctive pieces with a soul." Nada G is known to intricately craft distinctive, hand-made, fine jewelry pieces made up of 18K gold, semi-precious and precious stones, including diamonds. Nada G creates two to four collections per year, and sometimes even one-off sets. The Malak collection represents power and is expressed through chunky, organic shapes, rough diamonds and a combination of unpolished yellow and white gold. The Mood Swings collection is a flexible line in which items can be mixed and matched together depending on one's mood. These two collections, in addition to the Matrix, Aya and Uma are among her latest and most distinguished so far... 1
