

Totally Teddy

Moschino introduces six new styles of footwear to express the distinctive characteristics of the brand in different ways – always with the signature touch of irony that defines Jeremy Scott’s work for the brand. Highlights from spring/ summer 2019 include the Teddy Shoes – in the lace-up version or knit sock one with the Moschino logo – sporting the rubber bottom that transforms the teddy bear shape into an oversized 3D rubber sole. A casual way to step out in style.
 Available at Aishti Downtown and Aishti by the Sea

Seduced by the Light

Lebanon-based jeweler Nada G has partnered with Beirut’s venerable Sursock Museum to launch a capsule collection inspired by the museum’s rose window traceries and the fanlight windows, which in turn were based on the lotus flower. Named Power of Light, the collection includes earrings, rings, chokers, cuffs and bracelets in 18-carat yellow, white or pink gold. The glorious pieces are available at the Nada G boutique and atelier, at select points of sale across Lebanon and at the Sursock Museum.
nadag.com

Le Jazz Hot

This year, the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival celebrates its 50th anniversary with a look back at the people, places and events that have made the annual happening such a great success. Visitors can view footage from the first-ever jazz festival plus images of festival favorites across the decades. The 2019 all-star lineup includes The Rolling Stones, Santana, Gladys Knight, Bonnie Raitt, Tom Jones, Aaron Neville and Katy Perry, among dozens more. Now you’ve got a reason to take that trip to the Big Easy.
 April 25-28 and May 2-5, nojazzfest.com